Tragedy as man dies in house fire

HANNAH MIRSKY

A MAN has died in a tragic house fire early this morning.

The emergency services were called to the terraced house in Bellings Road, Haverhill, at around 2.30am by a neighbour.

When the fire service arrived they found smoke pouring from the dormer window at the front and the second floor dormer window at the rear of the house.

Firefighters in breathing apparatus went inside and found the body of a man.

The fire spread to the next-door property, but firefighters stopped it spreading further. Around seven people from neighbouring properties were evacuated from their homes.

Fire station commander Paul Goodman said: "It's a tragic event, and our sympathies go out to the family and friends of the person who died."

The man has not been officially identified, but has been named by neighbours as Del Roy Watson, a retired police officer.

His friend and neighbour Stuart Smith said Mr Watson had worked in the Metropolitan Police for 28 years, and his wife had recently given birth to a baby boy.

According to neighbours, three people who lived on the street went into the house to try and rescue Mr Watson when they saw the fire.

Neighbour Ollie Bell was one of those to go into the burning building. "I looked out of my window and saw they were trying to kick Del's door down," he said.

"I ran out of my house and they said 'there's a fire'. We got into the house and ran on to the floor where we thought he was, and all we could see was black smoke.

"The next door neighbours said they heard him calling for help before we got there.

"All three of us were just trying to get him out of there, but I don't think we could have done much.

"If we could have seen him we could have done our best to help him out, but the smoke knocks you out.

"The fire officer said we went as far as we could - if we went any further they'd have had to pull us out. It's heartbreaking, because you know you're only about 10 feet away from him, and you just can't get to him."

Tributes paid to victim of fatal crash

TRIBUTES have been paid to a young man who died in a crash on the B1061 on Monday.

Sebastian Andrzej Chlebosz, an employee of Maze Rattan in Boundary Road, Haverhill, died when an Audi 80, in which he was a back seat passenger, collided with a Ford Focus and a JCB.

The accident happened just after 8am at Sipsey Bridge in Burrough Green.

Four people were taken to hospital and the air ambulance, and fire crews from Newmarket, Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds attended, using cutting equipment to free three casualties.

Two other men in the Audi, a 21-year-old man from Burwell and a 23-year-old from Soham, are also employees of Maze Rattan.

The driver was seriously injured and the front seat passenger suffered slight injuries.

Martin Hughes, of Maze Rattan, paid tribute to Mr Chlebosz, who lived in Newmarket.

He said: "We are still a bit all over the place. We've lost an excellent member of staff and a good friend."

The Ford driver, a 35-year-old woman from Newmarket, and the JCB driver, a 32-year-old man from Carlton, both received slight injuries.

Police are appealing for any witnesses to the crash to contact the roads policing unit at Cambridgeshire Police on 101.

Homes evacuated as fire rages through terraced house

Mr Bell said Mr Watson suffered from multiple sclerosis, which affected his mobility, and he used a walking stick.

Mr Watson's friend Stuart Smith paid tribute to him this morning.

"He was excellent, a very nice guy," he said. "He was a real gentleman. I never ever spoke to him when he didn't smile and didn't laugh."

"He will always be in our thoughts and in our hearts, and it's a big loss for the community."

Mr Smith said Mr Watson's wife and baby son were staying in London at the time of the fire.

Neighbour Yvonne Wilde said: "He was a really lovely man. Every morning he said good morning - he would stop to just say hello.

"My friends who live a couple of doors away heard him calling for help. They were knocking on the house door. I think one of the neighbours had a key to his house, and they got in."

"They opened the door to the room he was in but they couldn't get to him. He was stuck by the window shouting for help. They said he just suddenly stopped calling, and they just had to get out. It's really really tragic what happened, especially knowing that someone was calling for help."

An investigation has been launched into the cause of the fire.

Appeal for help at town summer bash

HANNAH MIRSKY

THE date for this year's Haverhill Summer Bash has been announced - and organisers are appealing to businesses and volunteers to help.

The event will take place on Sunday, July 19, on the recreation ground.

Events already planned include shows for babies, cakes, flowers and dogs. For families, there will be a kids' treasure hunt and a craft tent and entertainments include a circus workshop, sports activities and a tug of war.

The car show will return, to be led by a Del Boy impersonator in a replica iconic yellow three-wheeler.

This is the third annual Summer Bash. The event began in 2013, and a two-day bash was held last summer. So far, the events have raised more than £10,000 for local good causes.

SUMMER FUN: At last year's event

Now is your chance to get involved in this community fundraiser.

The bash's organisers are looking for 10 volunteer stewards to be on hand on the day: five from 7am to 12pm, and another five from 12pm to 6pm.

They are also searching for raffle prizes to be contributed, and local printers who might be able to produce posters, programmes, banners and raffle tickets.

Haverhill businesses are also being invited to get involved, either as sponsors or as stallholders on the day.

There are three tiers of sponsorship available. The highest tier involves having the entire event named after the company, and costs £3,000, while the lowest tier costs £200.

All sponsors get free advertising in the programme, and on the website and posters.

Stands on the day are now available, and prices range from £50 to £100 for trade stalls and £70 to £200 for hot food stalls. Advertising spaces in the programme are also now available, at £75 for a full inside page, and £50 for a half page.

To find out more or get involved, email haverhillsummerbash@outlook.com.

Get involved in the big clean-up

HAVERHILL'S Community Clean-up is almost here - and it's time to get involved.

Tomorrow and Saturday, equipment including hi-viz jackets, gloves, litter pickers and bag hops, as well as sponges, mops, sprayers and shovels will be available to pick up from Haverhill Arts Centre between 10am and 12.30pm.

You could choose to mow the grass outside your house; wash down street signs or cut old cable ties off lampposts. But remember to leave any bags of litter you have collected in a neat pile by the side of the road and to inform the town council where you have left them.

And don't forget to return your equipment to the arts centre.

You can always report issues to the council if you're not able to fix them: inform the town council if you see broken signage or larger tasks, and report potholes on www.fixmystreet.com.

To find out more, visit www.cb9.co.uk, follow "Give CB9 a Shine" on Facebook, or call (01440) 712858.

Man, 18, is charged with wounding

A MAN has been charged with wounding with intent to cause grievous bodily harm after an incident on Saturday night.

At about 11.40pm police received calls reporting an altercation in the car park of Leiston Road community centre, which was hosting a private function.

Police attended the scene and found an 18-year-old man with a suspected stab wound to his chest at the end of Ixworth Road.

An ambulance and a rapid response vehicle were sent and the man was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge.

His injuries are not thought to be life-threatening.

Liam Allen, 18, of Mays Avenue, Balsham, was arrested by officers.

He was charged with wounding with intent to cause grievous bodily harm, and with possession of cannabis.

He was detained in custody and appeared at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates Court on Monday morning.

He did not enter a plea at the magistrates court.

He has been remanded in custody and will appear at Ipswich Crown Court on March 26.

Construction begins on new Montessori nursery

HANNAH MIRSKY

WORK has started on a new Montessori nursery in Haverhill.

The nursery will be based at the Haverhill Research Park in Three Counties Way, but will be open to everyone, not just those living and working on the site.

The building work, carried out by KP Construction, began on Monday.

They are aiming to complete the building in early August, ready for an Ofsted inspection before the nursery opens in September.

The single-storey building will cater for around 80 children between the ages of 3 months and 5 years.

It will have a baby room, two toddler rooms and two rooms for 3 to 5 year olds, as well as an onsite chef so the children can eat home-cooked meals.

It will have indoor and outdoor play areas and 16 parking spaces, and will be open from 7am to 6.30pm Monday to Friday.

The facility will be run by Colourbox Montessori School Ltd, who operate a nursery in Newmarket rated "outstanding" by Ofsted.

It will be managed by qualified early years teacher Lesley Milmine, who works at Colourbox in Newmarket. She said: "I am very much looking forward to welcoming children and their families from Haverhill and the surrounding areas to share this exciting new Montessori venture with us."

NURSERY: An artist's impression of what the new site will look like

Sandra Copping, manager at Colourbox in Newmarket, said: "We are looking forward to coming to Haverhill and doing more exciting things with the children."

It will be partnered with the Samuel Ward Trust, the academy trust which runs four schools in Haverhill and three elsewhere. The trust already works with Colourbox's Newmarket centre.

Howard Lay, Chief Executive of Samuel Ward Academy Trust said:

"They are an outstanding provider and there is a real need for quality nursery provision in Haverhill."

"I believe the biggest impact you can make in education is at a young age. There's a kind of moral imperative with early learning provision."

Plans to have a nursery on the research park were set out in the original outline application approved by the borough council in 2011.

The plans also included a restaurant, pub and large office spaces. Family pub and restaurant The Flying Shuttle opened on the site last year.

Nic Rumsey, of Carisbrooke Investments, which is developing the research park, said about the nursery: "It will combine with the restaurant and the pub so that the site is beginning to become quite sustainable."

"People visiting the research park will have somewhere to eat, somewhere to drink, and somewhere to leave their children."

"It's beginning to be quite an attractive offer."

We are looking for crafts, food, and drink stalls that can add to the mix on our wonderful markets."

"For those interested in taking it that step further and running a new stall, we also have special start up deals."

HAVE your say about the masterplan for Haverhill town centre at a series of drop-in events run by ONE Haverhill.

On Thursday, March 26, members of the public can visit Haverhill Arts Centre between 10am and 6pm to meet planning experts David Lock Associates, who are working on the masterplan.

The experts will also be at a market stall organised by ONE Haverhill on March 27 and 28 from 9am to 3pm, where residents can learn more about the masterplan and find out how to give their opinions.

They will have an information stall in the foyer of Sainsbury's supermarket from 9am to 1pm on Tuesday, March 31.

More engagement with the public will take place on March 27 at the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce breakfast event, Samuel Ward and Castle Manor Academies and the Chalkstone Community Centre.

To have your say about the draft masterplan, visit www.onehaverhill.co.uk and follow the links to the questionnaire, or pick up a paper copy from Haverhill Arts Centre, Haverhill House and Haverhill Library.

This phase of consultation began on March 9 and will run until Friday, April 17. Residents are invited to give their views about the general "issues and options" to be considered.

Firefighters tackle blazing vehicle

A CAR caught fire in central Haverhill on Saturday afternoon.

One fire crew was called to the scene, in the Jubilee Walk car park opposite the fire station, at 2.23pm after multiple reports of a car fire.

They used two foam hose reel jets and two sets of breathing apparatus to extinguish the blaze, which was out by 3.30pm.

Police were called to the scene at 2.45pm, but the cause of the fire is not thought to be suspicious.

No-one was hurt in the blaze.

The Environment Agency have been alerted to the use of foam for the protection of the local environment and wildlife.

Thieves and vandals target cars and vans

CRIMINALS have targeted cars and vans in Haverhill over the last fortnight, stealing parts worth more than £2,000.

A catalytic converter worth £1,800 was taken from a white Mercedes van parked in the town's Chedburgh Place overnight between Wednesday, March 11 and Thursday, March 12.

Another Mercedes van had its equally valuable catalytic converter stolen in Deben Road, Haverhill, between Tuesday, March 10 and Friday, March

HANNAH MIRSKY

13. It is not known if these two incidents are connected.

Vandals have also been damaging cars. In Girton Road, a white BMW had the valve of one of its tyres cut away overnight between Saturday, March 14 and Sunday, March 15, and glue was sprayed into the locks of a blue Citroen in Betony Walk overnight between Sunday, March 8 and Monday, March 9.

Between Friday, March 6 and Thursday, March 12, a black Nissan parked in the Cavendish Court car park had its front windscreen and bonnet damaged, while a blue Citroen was scratched on its bonnet and sides in Vetch Walk between Friday, March 14 and Saturday, March 15.

The rear handle of a Volkswagen van was damaged in Bartlow Place on Wednesday, March 11, but the vehicle was not entered.

Sign up for 10k run in town centre

THERE'S still time to sign up for April's 10K run through Haverhill.

The event, known as Haver10, will take place at 11am on Sunday, April 12, and the run starts at Haverhill Leisure Centre.

There will be a 2k fun run before the main event so people can run with their children.

The first ever Haver10 took place last year, when 360 runners took on the challenge.

They raised £13,000 for local charity St Nicholas Hospice Care, which will benefit again from this year's race.

"Last year showed that Haverhill has a thriving athletics community, so we're hoping that continues to show and even more people get involved in 2015," said organiser and race director Jack Tappin.

"There's a vibrant running scene both in Haverhill and throughout this region, so as well as getting people in the town running we're hoping these events will continue to draw people to Haverhill so they can see our town."

FUNNY: Students and staff at Westfield Primary Academy celebrate Red Nose Day in pyjamas

School fun on Red Nose Day

HANNAH MIRSKY

SCHOOLS and pre-schools in Haverhill celebrated Red Nose Day last Friday with funny faces, silly clothes and cake sales.

At Westfield Primary Academy, children and teachers dressed in onesies and pyjamas, and Red Nose Day activities included a cake sale, a sweepstake for the staff, and a "Design a Red Nose" art competition.

The school's literacy leaders Tracy Hannan, a reception teacher, and Rebecca Loader, a Year Five teacher, also produced a whole school joke book which was sold to raise money for Comic Relief.

The school raised more than £700 for the charity.

Place Farm Primary Academy also did well with fundraising, making £541 for Comic Relief.

Students at Place Farm donated £1 each to dress in non-uniform, and 50p to throw two wet sponges at members of staff - which alone raised £170.

MAKING FACES: Children at Happy Faces Pre-School

Happy Faces Pre-School raised £30 through donations for Comic Relief, and had a red-themed day involving red glitter slime, red water, red paint, and red iced biscuits.

Stepping Stones Pre-School raised £30, with children donating and dressing in red. Books were awarded to the four children who wore most red.

At Samuel Ward Academy, students dressed in red and made charity donations, and home-made cakes were sold and raffled off.

Samuel Ward raised more than £1,000, with one cake alone raising £50.

A cake sale was also held at Clements Primary School, and another at Haverhill Arts Centre on Saturday by sisters Eliza, 10, and Kiki Keeble, 8, who go to St Felix Primary School. They raised £35.

Don't get too close

I AM writing in response to Debra Fox's and Hannah Mirsky's article 'End of era for SNT meetings' published in the Haverhill Weekly News on March 5.

Whilst I wholeheartedly support the decision announced by Inspector Peter Ferrie to abolish these quarterly meetings, it would appear that this decision has divided this community.

In the first paragraph, Fox and Mirsky announce that the meeting "will no longer take place" although in the third paragraph it states that "the force will start engaging with the public in new and exciting ways."

Whilst the gesture of these meetings is highly valued, the ineffectiveness is evident as Cllr Maureen Byrne states that the community want to attend these meetings in order to tell their grandchildren: "if you've got problems the police are approachable and friendly".

My children appreciate the SNT are members of our community who must be shown respect; as a family we understand that the job of an officer is indeed an amalgamation of many different hats. Therefore, I never need to tell my children that a police officer is to be respected; they simply know.

In the third paragraph, Ferrie comments that the force is thinking up 'new and exciting ways' to work with the public. I urge Ferrie to remember that the gulf between the community and the police is there for a reason, and while he seeks to narrow this divide, it is actually a professional distance, and to break this could leave the force vulnerable.

GP will see you now

HAVING recently experienced the new system at the Christmas Maltings and Clements Practice, (Weekly News, March 12) I feel that we as a town are taking a step backwards.

The front page article didn't mention that if you book an appointment after 8am and 1pm that most, if not all, of those appointments are gone between 8.15am and 1.15pm, so where does that then leave you – sit and wait or take yourself off to A&E if you can.

Reading between the lines, all this system really caters for is children, those who don't work or are retired, certainly not for those who work full-time, or part-time.

Councillor Pat Hanlon got it spot on: a lack of surgeries in town. There's a crisis here and the

Your Pictures

Michael Chinery sent us these two pictures of creatures that will be waking from their winter sleep.

"The toads will soon be waking up in their winter quarters and making their way back to the ponds in which they grew up. Many of them have to cross our roads to get to the water, so please take care in areas where they cross – these are often marked by signs carrying a picture of a toad. Notice the toad's warty skin – very different from the smooth skin of a frog.

"The comma butterfly, named for the white comma-shaped mark on its underside, is one of several butterfly species that sleep through the winter in the adult state. It often tucks itself up in dense vegetation, where it is easily mistaken for a dead leaf.

"It will be waking up any time now and may well visit your garden to sip nectar from the spring flowers."

■ We love to see your photos. Please email them as jpegs to: wendy.davey@cambridge-news.co.uk closure of the town's walk-in centre signalled for me just how far behind Haverhill is in dealing with life in the 21st century.

I believe that the Christmas Maltings and Clements Practice should operate the sit and wait at both surgeries, if Christmas Maltings isn't big enough then use the centre near the recreation ground. Something drastic needs doing now, not in six months or a year, now.

Having used the sit and wait around a month ago, I waited four hours to see a doctor; a friend of mine waited 8 hours, I felt like I was sitting in a surgery in some third world country.

I don't think a practice should adopt whatever system it wants, there should be a standard across the whole of the UK that is the same.

I am starting to wonder how the health of Haverhill fits into the High Street Master plan and Haverhill Vision 2031 or both, you still cannot get a chest X-ray in Haverhill, you still have to travel a 30 plus mile round trip – how can that be in 2015?

Haverhill in regards to healthcare has lost the plot, this town, this 'boil on the backside of Suffolk' needs lancing and finally putting out of its misery.

Live long and prosper Haverhill, nah, that's a work of fiction as well.

ELATED: Lesley Ashford-Smith receiving the laptop from Cllr Anne Gower

New laptop given to charity worker

A DEBT advice worker has received a laptop from Cllr Anne Gower to help her with her work.

Lesley Ashford-Smith, who works as a resource administrator on the REACH Money Advice project, was presented with the computer by Cllr Gower at the REACH Resource Centre in Leiston Road, Haverhill.

The laptop was funded by money from Cllr Gower's locality fund.

Lesley, who has worked at REACH for nearly three years, said: "To have a laptop – I was just overwhelmed. I didn't know what to say. I never expected anything.

"It's absolutely amazing because of the mobility of having a laptop. I can work anywhere. It just helps the clients so much.

"All I can say is I'm very happy, very elated, very surprised. There are some very generous people out there."

Henry Wilson, who runs REACH Community Projects, said: "Having this computer is a real asset in helping us stay on top of the debt centre."

REACH Money Advice was launched in December last year.

It is an in-house, free drop-in service which helps people resolve debt issues.

It is open Monday to Friday, 2pm to 5pm at the REACH Resource Centre.

WELLING UP: Allotment holder Ian Lynas with Gwen Dalton, assistant secretary to the Manor Road Allotment Association, and Cllr Tony Brown

Growers gushing after allotments donation

A BOREHOLE has been dug at an allotment site, giving gardeners access to fresh water.

Previously, the allotment site in Manor Road, Haverhill, only had water collected in butts.

The new borehole was made possible with a grant from Cllr Anne Gower's locality fund, while Cllr Tony Brown's drilling company dug the well.

An opening ceremony was attended by both councillors, the Manor Road Allotment Association committee and allotment holders.

Terence Turner, secretary to the Manor Road Allotment

Association, said: "This is obviously a fantastic benefit for the present and future allotment holders and the association is incredibly grateful to Cllrs Gower and Brown for their help and guidance throughout the whole endeavour."

WINNERS: Dancers from the DanceXcel academy with their awards

Dancers scoop 53 awards

PERFORMERS from Haverhill's DanceXcel dance school have won 53 awards in just two weeks at regional heats.

Forty-five dancers from the school competed in a disco freestyle and rock 'n' roll festival in Hemel Hempstead on Sunday, March 8, and a ballroom and Latin festival in Manchester on Sunday, March 1.

They participated in more than 60 events to qualify for national finals in London this October.

Principal of Haverhill DanceXcel Ronnie Walford said: "We have many talented dancers in Haverhill who have danced amazingly in their regional competitions so far this year, in all their dance genres they competed in and also recently in their grade examinations in February.

"They all have shown great promise for the future which I'm very proud of. We would also like to thank the constant support and dedication from all our pupils' parents."

The school is preparing for more competitions.

Virtual clinic cuts hospital waiting times

AN innovative new clinic at West Suffolk Hospital means patients have shorter waiting times and fewer visits to the hospital.

The virtual fracture clinic gives medical staff at the hospital the ability to look at the X-rays of patients who would otherwise need to come into hospital.

The consultant orthopaedic surgeon and nurse who have examined the X-ray can then call the patient to discuss their case.

Some patients can be discharged by phone, while others are referred to the most appropriate clinic for their needs.

The clinic was the first of its kind in the country when it opened in September 2013.

HANNAH MIRSKY

It has been so successful that three virtual clinics are now running each week alongside traditional face-to-face clinics.

Staff from 10 other hospitals, including King's College Hospital in London, have visited West Suffolk to learn more about the system, with a view to introducing it themselves.

Sue Deakin, consultant orthopaedic surgeon at West Suffolk Hospital, said: "We are delighted with the success of the virtual fracture clinic."

"Not only has patient satisfaction improved, but waiting times have also reduced by at least a third because there are fewer patients who have to see us directly.

"The number of times a patient needs to come to the hospital has also reduced, which is great news as it is much more convenient for them."

"We are also really pleased the clinic has generated so much interest from other hospitals and have been all too happy to share our experiences with colleagues from elsewhere so that they can introduce similar services to benefit their patients."

All patients discharged over the phone through the virtual clinic are given a helpline number.

They can still be seen by a doctor if it becomes necessary.

Nominations now open for education awards

NOW is your chance to nominate your school, teacher, or pupil for the 2015 Raising the Bar awards.

The awards were set up by Suffolk County Council to celebrate "success and inspiration across the education system".

Young people, people working in education, business partners, collaboration and innovation projects and an unsung hero are being sought for nominations.

Categories include rising star of the year for a child who has overcome obstacles to improve their learning, educational leader of the year, and more.

To find out more and make a nomination, go to rtbawards.com. Nominations close at 5pm on Tuesday, April 21.

CTRL Z: students at the launch of the campaign

No smoking campaign kicks off

A SCHOOL played host to the launch of a county-wide anti-smoking campaign on Friday. A team from Live Well Suffolk visited Castle Manor High School to launch CTRL Z, a campaign to stop young people smoking. They performed carbon monoxide breath tests on the students and spoke about the dangers of smoking. Students also had a chance to take snaps with peep boards they had brought along. Anna Keane, Live Well Suffolk's youth co-ordinator, who is running the CTRL Z project, said: "The launch of the CTRL Z was very well received. All the students we've seen have been really engaged and interested in the new service, and the issues that we're raising awareness of, not just in Haverhill, but in all the schools we've visited across the county. "We're looking forward to doing even more work with young people across the county as the CTRL Z service continues."

Fight to end child abuse

A CAMPAIGN to end child sexual exploitation is being supported by Suffolk's Local Safeguarding Children Board (LSCB).

Partners of the board including Suffolk Constabulary, Suffolk County Council, and Suffolk's Police and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore, have joined the campaign.

Child sexual exploitation is a crime that involves manipulating or coercing under-18s into sexual activity, and national awareness day was held yesterday to draw attention to it.

Suffolk Constabulary posted on social media throughout the day to raise awareness, focusing on officers and staff involved in fighting child sexual exploitation.

The constabulary is also issuing new training materials to staff and officers, giving them the knowledge to spot exploitation.

Police and Crime Commissioner

HANNAH MIRSKY

Tim Passmore said: "It is hugely important that we make a stand to draw attention to this dreadful crime. It is beyond my comprehension that young children can be treated in this way and I will do all I can to support the constabulary in their fight against this horrendous crime."

In Haverhill, spotting victims of abuse is set to be one of the local force's priorities after the Safer Neighbourhood Team's priority-setting meetings were stopped.

Follow @suffolkpolice and @timsppcc and like 'Suffolk Constabulary Official Page' on Facebook to see pledges from officers and staff.

If you have experienced exploitation or believe anyone else to be suffering, contact police on 101. In an emergency, dial 999.

Have your say on hospital plan

MEMBERS of the public are being invited to share their views on a draft masterplan for West Suffolk Hospital.

The four-week consultation begins on Monday, March 23, and will end on Monday, April 20.

The draft masterplan outlines where new staff accommodation could be built, and suggests moving the sterile services department onto the main hospital site.

It also identifies space for a possible cardiac catheterisation lab, for patients with heart conditions, and areas where more parking could be created.

A drop-in session giving people the chance to see the plans will take place on Thursday, April 2, in the committee room at West Suffolk Hospital.

For more information or to comment, visit www.wsh.nhs.uk/masterplanning.

ENGAGEMENT: Richard Stittle of Cambridge Regional College at the fair

Fair for new apprentices

HUNDREDS of young people visited an apprenticeships fair at Haverhill Arts Centre last Tuesday.

The event, held to celebrate National Apprenticeships Week, featured companies looking for apprentices, training providers, apprenticeship information services and ONE Haverhill.

Karen Chapple, organiser of the fair and Haverhill youth skills manager, has worked to create 80 new apprenticeships as part of ONE Haverhill's Keep Young Talent in Haverhill campaign.

She said: "We were delighted with the success of our first apprenticeships fair with around 200 young people not in work or education in attendance.

"We plan for it to be a yearly

HANNAH MIRSKY

hannah.mirsky@cambridge-news event and hope more local businesses and young people will attend every year to build on its success.

"We support young people in Haverhill throughout the year and I continue to work with the town's academies to support young people and businesses to find their perfect apprenticeship match."

Employers and young people who want to find out about apprenticeships can contact Karen on 07877 142000 or email youthskillsmanager@onehaverhill.co.uk. Visit www.onehaverhill.co.uk for more information.

Hall's fundraising boost

A GRANT of more than £1,000 has kick-started fundraising to improve a local village hall.

A committee was elected in January to improve Thurlow Village Hall in The Street, Great Thurlow.

The aim is to get more people using the building, which was constructed 60 years ago.

St Edmundsbury borough councillor Robert Clifton-Brown, who represents the Withersfield ward, has donated £1,200 of his locality budget to improving the hall.

Chairman of the village hall committee Rosalyn Bunting said: "We are extremely grateful to Cllr Clifton-Brown for his support. This is the first money to come in and hopefully his grant will make it easier to secure funding from other sources.

Cllr Clifton-Brown's investment will go towards new flooring in the building's entrance hall and toilets.

He said: "I am delighted to be able to show my support and to help kick start this project to revitalise Thurlow Village Hall."

He has donated a further £509 from his locality funding for picnic tables and benches on the playing fields at Thurlow Sports Club.

Chance to show off talent

IF you've got a talent for music, whether a seasoned guitarist or a singer wanting to try performing, you can give it a go at new open mic nights.

The nights are held on the first Thursday of each month at the Red Lion pub in Rowley Hill, Sturmer.

They have been running for two months, beginning in February, with the next night taking place on April 2.

David Caulfield, a musician who organises the nights, said: "We have had two nights already, and it's been brilliant - absolutely fantastic."

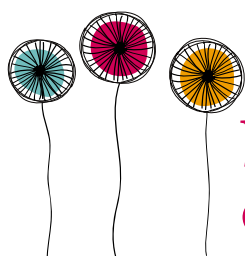

Performers of all ages and musical styles are encouraged to perform.

The nights are free to attend, and music begins at 8.30pm.

Anyone interested in performing can call the pub on (01440) 766971

Peaceful setting at Blois Meadow

"ONE of the best nurseries in the country, right here on your doorstep." That's what people are saying about Blois Meadow Day Nursery in Steeple Bumpstead.

Based in a peaceful countryside setting, but just five minutes from the centre of Haverhill, Blois Meadow is a small, family-run nursery with an atmosphere very different from that of the large 'out of town shopping centre' setting. Owned and managed by experienced local teacher Alison Midgley, the nursery was judged 'outstanding' by Ofsted in 2013 and, just a few months ago, was one of five finalists for the UK's 'Nursery of the Year' award.

ADVERTISING FEATURE

"The nursery is clean, continually being updated with new ideas and play things. The atmosphere is fun and friendly and you feel like you are leaving your children in the care of close friends," says local GP Emma Fryer, whose twin daughters have attended Blois Meadow for the last two years.

"We work hard to make the nursery an extension of home, not just somewhere to drop off your children," says Alison Midgley. "We are large enough to be thoroughly professional, but small enough to get to know all our children and parents and really work together to provide care and early education linked to play."

The nursery is open from 7am till 7pm on weekdays throughout the year. It has places for 45 children of all ages, from a few months right up to school age, and offers free funded places for children of three and four, as well as some two year olds. Staff are highly qualified and the nursery also develops younger practitioners through its own City & Guilds apprenticeship scheme.

"Because the nursery is tucked away in a peaceful village, it's not highly visible," says Alison Midgley. "But the secret is spreading and we are now close to full on most days of the week."

Blois Meadow's next open day is on March 21, from 11am to 3pm, when all are welcome. Information about facilities, fees and parent views can be found on bloismeadowdaynursery.com or by phoning (01440) 730520.

Flexibility is watchword at Lilypads Day Nursery site

OWNERS Hayley Peacock and Dawn Edwards are excited to be celebrating Lilypads Day Nursery and Pre-school's third year of trading this year, which has seen the nursery going from strength to strength.

Hayley and Dawn put much of their success down to great word of mouth, with satisfied Haverhill parents recommending their services to others. So much so that the nursery is now at 100 per cent capacity, with a total of 85 families on their books.

Lilypads' main focus is for babies and pre-school children (along with popular holiday and after-school clubs for older kids), and they pride themselves on offering flexibility in their hours for parents who, these days, often are not able to just work from 9 to 5.

With a great and enriching selection of activities available, the nursery follows the national Early Years Foundation Stage curriculum, and all of the children have access to the wonderful spacious outdoor play area, as well as great facilities inside.

For younger children, free-flow play and sensory activities, language and singing are the order of the day, while for the pre-schoolers, the focus turns to preparation for those important first school days, with a range of number work, name writing, mark making and more.

If this sounds perfect for your child don't despair! More spaces at the nursery will be coming available in summer as many of their children start school this September. Find out more about Lilypads Day Nursery on their website at lilypadsnursery.co.uk, or their active Facebook page, with regular updates of pictures and information; or why not give them a ring on (01440) 767805, or just pop in! Great fun in new sand room at Dizzy Ducks Day Nursery SITTING on the edge of the Homefield Business Park is an unlikely place to get the 'sand between your toes' experience. But the children at Dizzy Ducks Day Nursery, are getting just that. Their new indoor sand room is providing a great opportunity for digging holes, building sand castles and burying dinosaurs.

The nursery has some fantastic sensory and messy play facilities, with a new messy play area, opening in March, providing the children with an opportunity to engage their senses as they touch, play and discover wonderful textures.

"George loves the teachers [at Dizzy Ducks] as they play with him and do lots of different activities, which we don't do at home, like playing with shaving foam or spaghetti," says Emma Ager, mum of George, aged four.

"Sand and shaving foam are toys too," say Tina Spencer, the nursery manager. "The less a toy does the more a child will learn. Children can create an imaginary world whilst developing their fine motor skills and hand-eye coordination."

Dizzy Ducks' babies also have their own sensory and heuristic play area to experience colours, lights and textures. As well as a dedicated sleep room enabling the little ones to rest in a calming environment, which is just as important as play time.

"We are really proud of the facilities at our nursery," says Tina. "All of our rooms are bright and airy and each have their own gardens. Our highly qualified, enthusiastic team work hard to ensure each of our children grows and develops whilst learning through play. We are one big happy family."

Dizzy Ducks cares for over 250 children from Haverhill, from young babies, to pre-schoolers and school children at their Out of School Club.

The Stranglers

SPEAKING from a French villa where he's rehearsing for the tour with guitarist and singer Baz Warne, bassist and founder member Jean Jacques Burnel (JJ) is happy with the way things are in the band. "Yeah, we're in a good place at the moment. All our detractors have died or have given up the ghost. We are now getting respect and are really enjoying playing live," he laughs.

That respect is certainly due, since they formed 41 years ago, the band have never stopped touring and recording and have produced classic hits including Golden Brown, Peaches, Duchess and Five Minutes. "We're a successful band but not commercial – we've always been true to ourselves."

JJ, along with keyboard player Dave Greenfield and drummer Jet Black, have been together since 1975 (Dave was the last to join the band), and Baz has been with them for almost as long as original singer-guitarist Hugh Cornwell.

"Our only concern really is Jet," laments the bassist, who turned 63 in February. Jet turns 77

March is one of the best months of the year. Not only is it the beginning of spring, but it's the month of the now traditional annual UK tour of The Stranglers; and for that reason alone, the title of the tour, The Stranglers March On, is particularly apt says MARTIN HUTCHINSON this year and has been having health problems for a number of years; he no longer tours abroad with the band and his UK appearances are limited to a couple of songs at selected shows. He wants to keep drumming," says JJ. "The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak."

"We take it on a day-to-day basis and we count our blessings if he does just one song."

But the band has a substitute drummer in Jim Macaulay. "Jim's great," JJ enthuses. "Jet has been mentoring him and he has been accepted by the fans – and overall we've had seven drummers in total standing in for Jet over the years."

Conflicting reports have stated that once Jet retires, The Stranglers would also end. JJ has a diplomatic – and hopeful – answer: "Well, it's not a problem yet as Jet is still very much involved in the band, he still records and is very active behind the scenes.

"But my take is that when Jet is completely out of the band we would finish, but Jet himself would like it to continue. As I said, he's mentoring Jim and is trying to convince me to carry on."

"I remain to be persuaded though."

Last year, the band celebrated their 40th anniversary with a massive UK tour and concert at the Olympia in Paris. "I really enjoyed the Ruby tour," says JJ. "We managed to do at least one piece from every one of our 17 studio albums; not only that but we beat all our attendance records at every show," he adds with a hint of pride.

So what can we expect this time? "A few surprises," he says with a grin. "We are playing a few songs we haven't done in ages and I'm having to relearn stuff I haven't played in over 30 years – that's what I'm doing at the moment with Baz."

And will there be any new material? "Well,

I've got about 125 ideas for riffs and melodies, plus Baz has a lot too and we've played a few things, but I don't want to be distracted from preparing for this tour.

"We'll be concentrating on producing intelligent songs and will start the recording process in earnest once we return from Moscow."

Oh yes, the band have been invited to play in the Russian capital . . . "Yeah, we haven't played there for 16 or 17 years – before Baz joined in fact and there's been many changes over there since."

But before then, the focus is on the UK tour. "That's right, it's become a very pleasant habit for us every spring. We have an audience and each show is a kind of communion."

"We're not selling anything, we are musicians and we love to play and we're just having a bloody good time."

Heart-racing ghost tale

I DON'T like anything that deliberately sets out to scare you.

That means ghost trains at the funfair, horror movies, crime dramas . . . call me a killjoy, but they just amount to a certain block of time spent counting down until I can remove the cushion from my face. They're just no fun.

So, going to see The Woman in Black on stage (no, I haven't seen the film starring Daniel Radcliffe. The trailer alone was enough to make my hands shoot up in front of my eyes), was not top of my must-do list.

However, the show is visiting Cambridge Arts Theatre on tour and, good journalist that I am, I couldn't turn down a chance to see it in all its glory at the Fortune Theatre in Covent Garden, London, first, where an adaptation of Susan Hill's 1983 novel has been staged since 1989.

I turned up on a very sunny Monday afternoon, already terrified (did I mention I don't do scary?) and edged around several chattering, hyped up school groups on a GCSE day trip, to meet press lady Kate who led me into the Fortune Theatre's cramped, aged glamour; the stage in its gloomy belly.

We headed to the bar, sadly not for a last min-

ELLA WALKER has a spine-tingling experience hooked up to a heart monitor as she braves The Woman in Black in London, ahead of its visit to Cambridge Arts Theatre ute nerve-calming shot of vodka, but for me to get rigged up to a heart monitor . . . yes, really.

The idea was to assess how much the show would make my heart gallop, based on a similar study that recently proved the production is far more terrifying than the film. Having seen neither, Kate figured my heart would be majorly skitterish.

With a strap taped round my chest and a watch recording and displaying all the data, my resting heart rate levelled out at 71 (apparently 60-80 beats per minute is average). Time to watch the show . . .

The stage was a bare tangle of ripped sheeting and blank wooden boards, but already the school kids were switching rapidly between fevered whispering and hysterical squeaking. My uneasiness meanwhile ratcheted up thanks to the jetlagged American sat next to me who decided it'd be an ideal opportunity to chat and explain why I really ought to move to Chile to "make the most of my talents" before Europe became "completely Islami-fied". Fantastic. It was a relief when the lights sputtered down and an elderly man in a heavy black overcoat shuffled on stage and began reading aloud.

If you don't know the story, The Woman in Black is a classic ghost tale, staged as an impressive two-hander: a looming country house, creeping fog, a huddle of silent, wary villagers, a chilling rocking chair and a corpse-like woman stalking the mansion's upper rooms and graveyard.

Basically it's all about making you jump and shriek.

If my heart rate average, measured after the first half, was anything to go by, it does just that. Mine had jumped from a healthy 71 beats per minute to a max of 119 beats, that's pretty extreme when you consider 220, minus your age, is supposed to be the absolute your heart can handle.

There's no gore or bone cracking or bloodiness, it's all in the edge-of-the-seat telling: the anticipation of the woman and her withered face appearing behind you or flashing in the dark. For that 119 spike though I blame a scene where smoke clogged the air and obscured everything, (including the bizarre American man, which was a serious worry).

The second half went even further and forced my heart to stutter from a 74 average up to 120. I won't give away any details (it didn't make me scream like the schoolgirls in the gallery), but your tummy will almost certainly flip.

Prepare to never look at a rocking chair in the same way again . . .

■ The Woman in Black, Cambridge Arts Theatre, until Saturday at 7.45pm. Tickets £15-£30 from (01223) 50333 / cambridgeartstheatre.com.

Rural feel in suburbia

EVER wondered how to give your garden a real rural touch? Award-winning designer Dan Pearson may be able to help.

After an 11-year absence, Pearson will be returning to work his magic at his sixth RHS Chelsea Flower Show by creating a garden inspired by Chatsworth in Derbyshire, focusing on the more rural part of the estate.

His Laurent-Perrier Chatsworth Garden will represent a small part of the 105-acre garden, inspired by the park's ornamental trout stream and Paxton's rockery, depicting an ornamental woodland animated by a naturalistic water feature.

All this sounds rather elaborate for an amateur gardener with a small plot, but Pearson says there are elements of it you can try in your own garden to give it a more rural feel.

"We often use water in small gardens to try to deflect surrounding noises that might be beyond the boundaries of the garden, like traffic, neighbours or pedestrians. Water is a good thing in urban gardens where you have a lot of background noise.

"In an urban garden with limited space, you might introduce water by having a little pool with a pump and water falling over a rock into the pool. That can be done in just a square metre."

Pearson is using colour quite freely in his woodland garden at Chelsea and is something he recommends to gardeners whose plot may be overhung by trees or oversized shrubs.

"You may have a predominance of green which can be contrasted with bright splashes of flower, but the flowers all have very small blooms even though they are bright."

Pearson will be combining tangerine orange candelabra primulas, P. bulleyana, which grow in wet conditions, with P. pulverulenta, a cerise pink type with a silvery reverse.

"Don't be afraid of clashing colours when you have enough weight of green elsewhere."

The garden will also have large elements, including rocks from Chatsworth, which are being juxtaposed with small, delicate flowers to achieve an effective change in scale.

by Hannah Stephenson

"In a smaller space, it's always good not to be afraid of using large things like a simple piece of topiary, contrasted with plants with small flowers alongside it. Play with that change of scale. It allows you to inject a sense of confidence, like putting a lovely big sofa in the room, then just using a small print or motif on it which stops the piece being too weighty."

"The sort of plants you'd use alongside a simple piece of topiary would stop it from feeling too heavy. We're using things you can see through like umbellifers, not cow parsley but angelica and Ligusticum scoticum (Scotch lovage), which is like a miniature angelica, and some delicate grasses like Melica altissima 'Alba', which has tiny silvery flowers which make things shimmer and pick up the breeze."

Woodland planting which is easy to replicate includes evergreen ground covers.

"In shady settings and woodland gardens, often in the summer when things die down, you're just left with bare earth. When bulbs which have done well in the spring die out, so we use evergreen ground cover to support that space which otherwise ends up being something and nothing in the height of summer."

Pearson has used Tellima grandiflora with sedges and wild strawberries which will scramble about in the shade.

If you only have a patio garden, a piece of topiary might make a focal point, with wild strawberries in smaller pots alongside.

"You can also use blueberries in combination with wild strawberries for an edible pot. In our garden we don't have blueberries but we do have enkianthus, which are a close relative and also have a really good autumn colour."

Pearson's Chelsea garden features baby oak, field maple (Acer campestre), hawthorn, the Japanese snowbell tree (Styrax japonicus) – but if you are thinking of growing a tree in a small plot, choose one which will match the size of your space, he urges.

"There's nothing worse than having to prune a tree that gets too big or even to have to cut it down."

Save your leaves to make leafmould and mulch your new, naturalistic space every year, he advises. Growing ground cover plants will also protect the soil and keep it moist over the summer.

■ JOIN the ever popular Centre Stage Company when they return to the arts centre with The Vicar of Dibley from today to Saturday, March 21, at 7.30pm with a matinee at 2.30pm on Saturday.

Geraldine Grainger is a vicar with a difference. In her own words, a babe with a bob-cut, a magnificent bosom, and a rather irreverent attitude to religion. Geraldine's arrival is met initially with a mixture of wonder, confusion and horror by the odd-ball locals. Meet them once again as Geraldine battles to win over the power-tripping head of the parish council, David Horton and become part of the congregation for Hugo and Alice's wedding!

■ A recorded broadcast from the Royal Exchange Theatre of Shakespeare's most iconic work Hamlet, the ultimate play about loyalty, love, betrayal, murder and madness takes place on Monday, March 23, at 7pm. Every Hamlet is defined by the actor and in this stripped back, fresh and fast-paced version, Maxine Peake creates a Hamlet for now.

■ Townsend Productions bring United We Stand, an account of one of the most turbulent industrial battles of the 20th Century – the 1972 Builders' Strike, to the arts centre on Wednesday, March 25, at 7.30pm. The events surrounding the strike are still making headlines and 42 years on, the Shrewsbury 24 Campaign, led by picket turned actor, Ricky Tomlinson, is still seeking to overturn the unjust prosecution of the 24 building workers. This is the story behind the dispute with popular and political songs arranged by renowned folk musician John Kirkpatrick.

■ Arthur Miller confronts the American dream in the National Theatre's live broadcast of A View From The Bridge, a dark and passionate tale of longshoreman Eddie, his Sicilian cousins and his beautiful niece. Mark Strong leads a stellar cast in this production that sold out even before it opened at the Young Vic last spring. Not to be missed, showing on Thursday, March 26, at 7pm.

■ Irish Country singer Shawn Cuddy celebrates his 25th anniversary in the business and continues to go from strength to strength. He has supported Johnny Cash and Foster and Allen in his time and will be joined on Friday, March 27, by Brian Mann who presents the Ultimate Country Radio Show. It starts at 7.30pm.

■ On the cinema front A Night At The Cinema In 1914 (U), part of the Suffolk Cinema Network's First World War Film Season, is showing on Sunday, March 22, at 5pm. One hundred years on, this special compilation from the BFI National Archive recreates a typical night out in 1914, including a comic short about a face-pulling competition, a sensational episode of The Perils of Pauline, scenes of Allied troops celebrating Christmas at the Front, and an early sighting of one of cinema's greatest icons...

■ Birdman (15) (best film at the Academy Awards) starring Michael Keaton, Edward Norton and Emma Stone is showing on Tuesday, March 24, at 7.30pm. Washed-up actor Riggan Thomson made his name starring in an iconic Hollywood franchise about the Bird Man. Now he longs to be taken seriously as a Broadway playwright and director, but his theatre production is dogged by disaster and his Birdman alter ego just won't leave him alone.

First new 'Knobbly' Lister

THE first of Lister Cars' reborn 'Knobbly' racers has rolled off the production line at the Lister factory in Cambridge. Built to Brian Lister's original specifications for the 1958 'Knobbly', this customer car is the first of a sold-out production run of ten cars, but overwhelming demand has meant Lister is considering three additional one-off 'final editions'.

All 'Knobbly' models are built to meet relevant FIA racing regulations and are powered by a race-prepared Jaguar D-Type 3.8-litre straight-six, producing 330bhp. Customers are able to compete in a series of historic Lister race meetings taking place in 2015.

This particular 'Knobbly' has been finished in a stunning metallic silver with a lustrous dark green leather interior. Like all 'Knobbly' continuations, it has incredible performance, capable of accelerating from 0-60mph in 4.3 seconds and on to a top speed of 181mph.

Lister Cars chairman Lawrence Whittaker said: "We're absolutely thrilled to see the first customer 'Knobbly' roll off our production line in Cambridge – it's a testament to our fantastic team and a fitting tribute to the memory of Brian Lister."

MADE IN CAMBRIDGE: 'Knobbly' is back in business in the city which nurtured him

The Transporter – 65 years young

SOME retire at the age of 65 – but this one is just getting started! Production of the first Volkswagen Transporter began 65 years ago and the 'Bulli' is still going strong today. The first models were built in Wolfsburg before production started at a new facility in Hanover in 1956. This date also marks the beginning of a unique automotive love story: today, the entire model series has attained cult status. Whether hippy or tradesman – everyone is driving Transporter.

It all began in 1947 with a pencil sketch: the Dutch car importer Ben Pon saw a simple flat-bed vehicle at the Volkswagen plant and, taking it as a basic idea, he sketched the outlines of a Transporter with Beetle DNA in his notebook.

Two years later, Volkswagen Plant Manager, Heinrich Nordhoff, presented four prototypes: two panel vans, a kombi and a small bus. Nordhoff promised that the Transporter would be as uncompromising and robust as the Beetle: 'These vehicles won't be handled with kid gloves, rather they will be treated roughly.'

Designers used the engine and axles of the Beetle. Instead of a central tubular frame of the popular family car, the bus had a unitized body that was mounted on a ladder frame. The 1.1-litre engine produced 18 kW (24.5PS) at 3,300rpm. The bus could transport up to eight people and the two rear seat rows could be removed easily to free up load space for around 750kg of payload.

Alfred Haesner, head of technical development of Volkswagen GmbH from 1948 to 1952, said: "Accordingly, this type of commercial delivery vehicle can be used for all branches of business, for rush deliveries and freight, eg as a small bus, a special-purpose vehicle, postal vehicle, ambulance or mobile station."

Production began on March 8, 1950, in Hall 1 of the Volkswagen plant in Wolfsburg, and ten vehicles were manufactured per day.

By the end of 1950, 8,001 Transporters had already been built. Demand was enormous, especially since its affordable price made it an attractive option to tradesmen and retail businesses. The unique vehicle quickly became an export hit as well. Volkswagen buses could simply transport anything and everything: rubble and debris, mortar and building stones, break-fast rolls and bees wax, cigars and newspapers.

A Volkswagen bus with a camping box made its appearance in 1951 at the automobile exhibition in Berlin. The delivery van with a rear engine suddenly held the promise of an entirely different type of travel. For the first time, it travelled over the Alps. Later, it was driven to India where hippies discovered the 'Bulli' for themselves.

Four years after its production launch, the 100,000th Volkswagen Transporter came off the assembly line in Wolfsburg in 1954. By this point, there were 30 different models of the vehicle. Daily production in Wolfsburg was at 80 vehicles but it couldn't produce more because the plant was already filled to capacity with Beetle production. It became clear that the Transporter needed its own plant.

Construction work began in early March 1955 in Hannover-Stöcken, and the plant was built from the ground up in just one year. In March 1956, the first "Made in Stöcken" Transporters came off the assembly line. This was the beginning of a future symbol of the 'economic wonder years'. Today, a total of 11 million T-series vehicles spanning five generations have been produced worldwide.

Dr Eckhard Scholz, chairman of the brand board of management of Volkswagen Commercial Vehicles, said: "The production launch of the T1 represented the beginning of a long success story that has lasted right up to today. In the past, as well as the present, there is market demand for extremely reliable, versatile and individual vehicles. We deliver them in top quality and precisely tailored to every need."

Production of the new generation model, the T6, launches this year.

Haverhill suffer defeat at Newmarket

HAVERHILL Rovers suffered a 4-2 defeat at Newmarket Town in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Newmarket made the brighter start and had already threatened when Adam Dalby gave them the lead with a free kick after just eight minutes.

Rovers continued to find themselves under pressure and it was not long before they went 2-0 down, Steve Holder scoring Newmarket's second from Jake Wayne's cross.

Michael Shinn's men began to get into the game, with Dalton O'Brien and Tyrone Alleyne starting to threaten in attack.

Wayne and Scott Paterson had long-range efforts for the hosts but it remained 2-0 at half time.

Rovers went 3-0 down early in the second half when Dalby scored his second, and with 15 minutes left, Mark Webster made it 4-0.

Haverhill responded with goals from Marcus Hunt and Martyn Farrant in the final 10 minutes but Newmarket held on.

Haverhill Borough enjoyed a good afternoon as they beat Dereham Town reserves 2-0 in the First Division.

The first half was goalless, but a penalty from Aaron Forshaw and a late goal from Kieran O'Neill was enough to give Martin Westcott's side all three points.
